Core Technology

Hydroxyl (OH), like oxygen and hydrogen, is a natural free radical in nature. It is also one of the most effective oxidants and can decompose more than 5,000 organic compounds. In nature, it has always played the role of a "natural purifier." The OHAIR Hydroxyl Air Protection System brings the "natural purification" of hydroxyl to your Practice

OHAIR hydroxyl technology simulates the process of producing hydroxyl groups in nature, and the high-tech UV lamps generate multi-band ultraviolet rays as a catalyst for the water molecules in the air to produce hydroxyl groups.

Once hydroxyl groups (OH) are produced, they undergo a cascade reaction in the air to "find and destroy" volatile organic compounds (VOCs), odour molecules, molds, bacteria, viruses, etc. in the air and on surfaces
